The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-9 and 12-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mann (U.S. Patent No. 5,167,809) in view of Mann (U.S. Patent No. 6,736,974). At best, the claims differ from Mann (U.S. Patent No. 5,167,809) in reciting performing maintenance. Mann (U.S. Patent No. 6,736,974) (column 1, line 55-column 2, line 7 and column 3, lines 5-13)) discloses that it is desirable to replace screens as maintenance on pistons and that screen replacing maintenance may be performed after accessing the second end. It would have been obvious to perform maintenance in Mann (U.S. Patent No. 5,167,809) because Mann (U.S. Patent No. 6,736,974) (column 1, line 55-column 2, line 7 and column 3, lines 5-13)) discloses that it is desirable to replace screens as maintenance on pistons and that screen replacing maintenance may be performed after accessing the second end.

In the restriction requirement of August 22, 2008, page 2, the sixth paragraph, an obvious inadvertent typographical error exists. "Claim 6" should read "claim 10" to be consistent with the International Search Report of May 23, 2005.

The remarks urge that examining an additional invention would not be a serious burden on the examiner. However, the additional searching and different issues of patentability would be an enormous burden on the examiner. As such, the restriction requirement has been reconsidered, deemed proper, and made final for the reasons of record.
